Welcome to PAC International Logistics Company

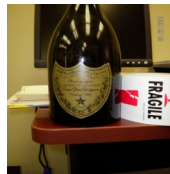

Today's international business field is changing rapidly. New products, new procedures and new methods of conducting trade are generating a myriad of transport, regulatory and logistical variables.

At PAC International Logistics Company our full focus is assisting our international clients through our worldwide forwarding capabilities. The PAC International program is designed to provide the most cost effective method of worldwide transportation available. With ongoing research and development activities we work to secure measurable dollar savings for our clients. To achieve these savings, our dedicated staff of transportation experts develops detailed forwarding solutions tailored to your international forwarding needs. This integrated system of coordination and follow-through results in expedient and economical movement of your merchandise from point of origin to destination.

PAC International Air Services

Arranging for airfreight through designated carriers is the center of PAC International's expertise. PAC International has extensive resources, contacts and experience that it utilizes for the benefit of our clients. Our goal is to provide efficient and timely cargo movements at competitive rates from point of origin to final destination.

Air Freight at PAC International is a two-way street. We offer airfreight services for exports as well as imports. Pick up and delivery can be arranged at origin or destination. Shipments can range in size from small packages to large consignments, palletized or containerized. These shipments are booked with commercial, air cargo, part charter and full charter airlines as necessary.

PAC International Ocean Services

PAC International specializes in providing ocean freight movements through designated carriers worldwide. Our successful activity here is based on long-term relationships with first class shipping lines. PAC International offers ocean freight services for exports as well as imports. On the import side, P.A.C. International is one of the largest transpacific freight forwarders, moving in excess of 10,000 containers from the Asia Pacific Region to the United States per year.

Ocean transportation for packaged cargo is available for shipments using less-than-container-load service (LCL), or for larger shipments using full container load (FCL) service. Shipments can be arranged on a port-to-port basis or can include the inland links at origin and/or destination. Multi-modal shipments are designed to minimize cost while still meeting delivery requirements.

PAC Project Cargo Network

We are proud members of the Project Cargo Network an organization, spanning the globe, communicating and working tirelessly to ensure proper transport of our clients project cargo. Heavy lift and earthmoving equipment are some of our specialties. Contact us on hazardous cargo movements.
